NEW YORK CITY.

Defalcation in the Fulton Bank.

NEW YORK, March 25. There was much excitement made in Brooklyn financial circles to-day, by the announcement of a defalcation in the Fulton Bank. It amounts to $24,000 or $25,000, and was discovered last Saturday. The criminal was discovered to be the teller, B. P. Rogers, in whom the officers of the Bank had the utmost confidence. Rogers is 31 years of age and is married. He came home last Saturday afternoon with a bundle under his arm, and going out he said to his wife he would be back shortly, soon after he received a note saying he was going to Bridgeport and would be back in two or three days. The following day she got a note from him enclosing a $5000 bill. The police claim to have a clue that the defaulter is hiding in Maryland. The region has never given way to intemperance or extravagance. The directors today issued a card stating that the Bank was in no way crippled by the robbery. The Bank's account $20,000 by Roger's bondsmen and the loss cannot exceed $25,000.

The Defalcation Doubled.

NEW YORK, March 26. It is now alleged that B. P. Rogers the absconding receiving teller of the Fulton Bank, Brooklyn, defrauded the institution out of about $50,000, which is double the amount first stated. Detectives are said to have traced Rogers to Knoxville, Tenn.

WASHINGTON

Charge Against Ex-Detective Whitley

NEW YORK, March 25. A Washington special says Mr. Pells, late chief clerk of the Department of Justice, testified yesterday that Whitley, a ex-detective, has used $125,000 of Government money by order of ex-attorney General Williams and had never accounted for it.

Dismissed.

NEW YORK, March 25. The Times Washington special says that T. K. Lapphingt has been dismissed for cause from the position chief clerk of the Land Office, and Mr. Banker, who has been a long time in the service, promoted to fill the vacancy.

The Contract for Headstones for Soldiers' Graves.

NEW YORK March 25. A Washington special says the contract for head-stone for soldiers' graves was awarded to Mr. Bridges, with allowances for which the original terms were ignored, under bid by a responsible party, by which $200,000 would have been saved by the Government, was this way cut by Secretary Belknap.

Counterfeit Discovered.

WASHINGTON, March 25. The secret service division of the Treasury Department is informed that a counterfeit 5 note on the Merchants' National Bank of New Bedford, made its appearance a day or two ago in Philadelphia. The note is as good, if not better than the celebrated "Traders" of Chicago. At point which may be of interest is that all the National Bank-notes are now printed on fibre paper and the use of a pin will demonstrate whether what looks like fibre is an imitation or the genuine.

Mrs. Marsh Again.

WASHINGTON, March 25. Mrs. C. P. Marsh, accompanied by her husband, was before the House Judiciary Committee today, and gave testimony similar to that of yesterday.

Gen. Cook's Testimony Relative to Gen. Reynolds.

The Committee on War Expenditures met to-day when Gen. Cook appeared and explained his former testimony about a house having been presented to Gen. Reynolds by army contractors at San Antonio. He had no personal feeling in the matter, having always like Gen. Reynolds, but his report as inspector of military posts in Texas was made in order that the Quartermaster's Department in Texas might be investigated there having been serious charges as to its conduct of affairs. In his former testimony he said there was a meeting of citizens at San Antonio to raise $25,000, and that it was supposed that such contributions would bring the headquarters there; but he did not know whether the money was raised or not."

Post Traderships.

John H. Charles testified that he supplied goods to Durfee & Peck when that firm was removed from several posts. He applied for but failed to obtain a license as an Indian trader. In order to save his interests he called on President Grant to help him, but the President said he had fixed the thing, and was not going to change. In making this reply the President bit one end of his cigar as if he did not like witness a bit. (Laughter.) Witness called on the Commissioner of Indian Affairs about the revocation of his license, but the Commissioner said, "You understand this matter as well as I do." The Secretary of War was a personal friend of his, but said he could not help him in the Indian trade. Witness also corroborated the testimony heretofore given with regard to Orville Grant having obtained some of the posts.

Had the Appearance of Fraud.

WASHINGTON, March 26. A special says the House Committee on Invalid Pensions appear to have struck a hornets of scandal to-day by accident. They were examining Col Seaton, at one time Chief Clerk of the Pension Bureau, and he testified that during Van Arman's administration of the Pension Bureau, there was a ring organized, composed of Mr. Cheney, of Orange, Mass., Mr. Van Lank of Ayone, N. Y., Hill of Dunkirk and Van Arman, Commissioner of Pensions, by which a great number of fraudulent land warrant claims were issued. The exact amount he said he could not tell, but he believed there were as many as $400,000.

MISSOURI

A Heavy Penalty.

ST. LOUIS, March 25. A Jefferson City special says the case of Adler & First, distillers and rectifiers of St. Joseph, Mo., for evasion of the revenue laws, has closed. The jury found a verdict of guilty on fifty-five counts. The minimum penalty is 55 years imprisonment and $275,000 fine. The defendants were put under an additional bond of $10,000, making in all $50,000. As their indictments have not been found against the same parties. The Grand Jury also returned indictments against several other persons for defrauding the Government.

CALIFORNIA

Arrested but got Away.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 25. Chas. H. Barth, Transportation Clerk of the Quartermaster's Department of the U. S. Army of this city, was arrested a few days ago. Heds associates have been demanded the Government out of $60,000 most of which he restored. After being arrested yesterday, he was ordered to accompany an Alcatraz, but while taking a bath before starting, he escaped and has not yet been recaptured.

THE INDIANS.

General Crook's Expedition.

CHICAGO, March 25. The following report, signed by General Crook, was received at Gen Sheridan's headquarters this afternoon:

FORT RENO, March 22. We the loose from the wagon train on the 17th of scouted the Tongue and Rosebud rivers, until satisfied there were no Indians upon them. We then struck across the country toward Powder river. General Reynolds with a part of the command pushed forward on the 18th leading to the village of Crazy Horse, near the mouth of Little Powder river. This he attacked and destroyed on the 17th, finding it a perfect magazine of ammunition, war material and supplies. Crazy Horse had with him the Northern Cheyennes and some of the Minneconjous probably one half of the Indians of the reservations. Every evidence was found to prove that these Indians were in co-partnership with those of the Red Cloud, and Spotted Tail agencies, and proceeds of their raids on the settlements, had been taken to these agencies and supplies brought out with which to fit out the hostiles again regardless of the immediate transfer of the Indians of these agencies to the Missouri river. I am satisfied that if Sitting Bull is on this side of the Yellow Stone, he is cramped at the mouth of Powder River. We experienced severe weather during our absence from the wagon train, snow falling every day but one, and the mercury on several occasions falling to register.

TEMPERANCE REFORM MEETING. The public meeting of the Reform Club, yesterday afternoon, at Norombega, was thinly attended, owing to the bad weather, but what it lacked in numbers was fully made up in interest and profitable work; so large a number has not been added to the pledge at any one of these meetings for months, and the whole exercises reminded one of a hearty revival. President Barrington presided. Mrs. Lane, of the Crusade, invoked Divine blessing. Seth Perkins, B. E. Walker and Vice-President J. Nason addressed the meeting, followed by a duet entitled, "Ninety and Nine," sweetly sung by Misses Hattie Rich and Mamie A. Reynolds, who were loudly applauded. Mrs. Pickard, of the Crusade, next spoke in her logical and convincing manner in behalf of the better life of the total abstainer. Chas. A. Reynolds, Esq., and Mr. Scully Baker also spoke words of cheer. Mrs. Lane, of the Crusade, said she was never more encouraged than now, and only regretted that all who should did not attend, and by their presence become co-workers in the suppression of dissipation. J. T. Randall, John F. Stevens (a new member of the Club), and Byron Kimball, Esq., were the last speakers; but, owing to the lateness of the hour, only a few minutes were allotted to each. The good meeting closed by the choir singing various hymns while many names were being added to the pledge.

THE CENTENNIAL. One of the most interesting departments at the Centennial Exhibition, will be the Educational. It will undoubtedly attract the attention of our foreign visitors more than any other one thing. The State of Maine has been assigned the eastern alcove in the gallery devoted to this interest. It is intended to fill the alcove with contributions from the schools of the State, including historical records of the schools, papers illustrating penmanship, drawing, etc., photographs of exterior and interior of building, method of heating and ventilating, and copies of books used, with a full description of the method of every-day work. Contributions have been received by the State Superintendent from Calais, Penobscot, Portland, Lewiston, Bath, Rockland and other places. Fine drawings are in preparation by the students of the State College. The grammar schools of this city have handed in a full copy of their examination papers at the close of last term. They were prepared with some care, but not with the special intention of sending them to Philadelphia. The design is to show the every-day work, and the result is very creditable. The State provided by an appropriation for the transportation and arrangement of all the contributions. After the Exhibition they will be preserved in the Educational department at the Capitol. Superintendent Johnson has secured a photograph of the only log school-house that was standing in the State in 1875. All papers should be sent to Warren Johnson, Esq., at Augusta and he will forward them to Philadelphia.

The friends and friends of the Universalist Society propose to repeat the interesting drama of Esau Lyme about May 1st. They are taking great pains in its preparation, and are having scenes to suit an interesting entertainment.

Happening to be down to the little hamlet known as Bacon Mills, we thought we would drop around and have a social conversation with our friend, N. W. L., about matters and things in general. The Basil Mills Company whose fine lumber mills, etc., are owned and run by Rogers Wakefield & Co., Bangor. Their sawing capacity is about twenty million feet, long lumber, and about thirty million, short lumber, during the summer season. They have very recently erected upon the river bank a store of wooden houses, of saw size and dimension. They run a car per present at one hundred's week. The boxes are very neat and stout and will probably be long in demand after it becomes generally known that the Messrs. Walker & Co. have devoted upon their manufacture. Twenty men have been employed in and about the mills the past winter. There is a large stock of logs in the boom adjacent to the mills. Subsequently they will be required to commence the summer campaign as soon as the river opens. L. N.

NEW PUBLICATIONS.

MOODY AND SANKEY. A full History of the wonderful career of the famous Evangelists in Great Britain and America together with the Life and Biography of Faith, as illustrated in the lives of Patriarchs, Prophets, Apostles and Kings by Rev. Robert Boyd, D. D. This most interesting and entertaining book comes at a time when there is an earnest popular desire to know the facts concerning the great revival work that has attracted the attention of two Continents, and the Revelation of which has given a sympathetic and comprehensive sketch of the remarkable experiences and achievements of the two men whose names have recently been on so many tongues all the world. The volume contains about 750 pages of clear type and fine paper, and is profusely illustrated with a steel plate portrait of the author, excellent likenesses of Messrs. Moody and Sankey, and a large number of other illustrations of scenes in their career, and of scriptural subjects. The book is not only a history of interesting events, but is prepared by the author with a power and eloquence of his own which will render it a potent auxiliary to the missionary work of the men whose success it chronicles. The book is highly commended by those who have reviewed it, and is meeting with a large sale, the publishing house liberally low for a work of its character and magnitude. It is elegantly bound in extra cloth, black and gold, for $2.50, and with full gilt for $3.50. Published by J. S. Goodspeed & Co., New York. Sold by subscription only, and Mr. C. F. Goodale is now engaged in canvassing this city. We think the work will find a large and ready sale.

THE WORLD ALMANAC. This annual publication from the N. Y. World newspaper office, for the year 1876, contains a great amount of political and statistical information, conveniently classified for reference. The names of officers of the U. S. Government, members of Congress and the government of States, together with election returns for 1875, compared with previous years, are given in addition to the usual astronomical data, political record, necrology, postage rates, etc. Price 25 cents per copy.

NEW MAGAZINES.

WIDE AWAKE, for April, indicates its title by the brightness of its appearance and the entertaining nature of its contents. It is lavish in illustrations among which the large, distinct pictures adapted to the eyes of the young folk will be gleefully appreciated, while there are numerous pictures of interest to older readers. The illustration of "Gold-Locks' Dream of Pussie-Willow," a delightful poem by Clara Doty Bates, is a charming design by Mrs. Finley, a sister of the poet. "The Fate of a Face-Maker," is another capital poem copiously illustrated; both of these poems with their pictures are to be specially commended for originality of thought and graceful-ness of expression. The "Behavior" paper in this number is worth the price of the year's subscription, which is only $2.00 per annum. The Publishers, D. Lothrop & Co., Boston, have liberally fulfilled the promises of their prospectus, and are entitled to much praise for the excellent character of this young folks' magazine.

FASHIONS IN WOMAN'S DRESS

CAMBRIC AND PERCALE DRESSES.

With the brilliant days of spring the great importations of cambrics and other cotton fabrics are eagerly welcomed. This year their cheapness and variety make them more popular than ever; and the designs, which each year are brought nearer to perfection, show little reason in checks and stripes for all that on both grounds of the finer fabrics. A foulard finish adds to their beauty, and makes them assume a marked place among materials used for morning costumes for the street, to be worn when the ladies' trade days come. Shot and two-toned effects are fashionable. A large assortment of these goods, in American and foreign print, can found in all prices, and specially checked Mohair cloths, the checks which can scarcely be told from gingham, are very pretty.

In making up these cambric dresses care should be taken in having patterns for pieces of which will not necessitate tipping after washing. A series of carefully constructed drawings and tissues is now for hooping. We refer for useful and pretty patterns to Harper's Bazaar of March, also to the patterns by Madame Demorest.

Among other new fabrics we mention Alpacaine, in all shades, in checks and stripes, at 25 cents. A valuable material which will wash and is suitable for summer morning dresses, at Arnold Constable & Co.'s, is one of the sateen embroideries in black and white, the price which is only a little more dear, being the choicest of the new designs and 50 the gross. Colored cashmere, in all shades, is another useful material to wear during the spring months. Scotch cloth, checked or colored, is another useful and attractive material. In fact, there is an abundance of material to suit all purposes, and the cheap spring importations will be the rage at Stewart's, in our parasols to accompany the dress.
